DECREE HULA HULA AS SOCIETY DANCE

Hawaiian Art.

Hawaii's famous bula bula is going be danced by Americans this winter. For so it was decreed yesterday by the American Society of Professors of Dancing, which is holding its thirty-ninth convention at the Hotel Majestic, Of course it is not to be the real barefoot article with a grass mat and a garland of flowers for a costume, but a sort of sublimated Hawaiian dance adapted by certain radical and necessary changes for the ballroom. The immense popularity of Hawaiian music is responsible for the Mrs. A. E. Norris and Daughter German lines on the western front was not taken seriously by any of his former associates and was not confirmed by his secretary, Taimage Thompson. "London Taps" is the name of the rest popular dance in England now, according to Mrs. Evelyn Hubbell of New York. It was taken originally from "The Broken Doll" chorus in the new musical comedy "Samples," but its London vogue was due, she said, to Vernon Castle, who took it up, and now it is dan ed from tea to taps at night. It is a military dance and the officers' spurs as make a merry little fingle. It is described as a pause in the midst of a fox cushman, Jr., the Oakley champles. trot. The musicians all steps while the dancers keep the tempo by tapping with their feet. "Vernon," Mrs. Hubbell says. opposed.

There are about seventy dancing mas-ters attending the convention and they come all the way from the snow-capped frountains of Montana to the cranberry bogs of Massachusetts.
So far nothing has been said about the director of the American Society of Pro-

His name is P. Nutt of Vineland, N. J.

He would not admit the reporters to the dance demonstrations, but that is hardly sufficient grounds for roasting in the fox trot and even the stately waltz will be danced with a military bearing.

The influence of feminism is probably the cause of the decree of the dancing masters that in the modern dances the man shall go backward. The debutants of last season, who claimed she had walked twenty miles backward on the dancing floors, will heave a sigh of relief that she can now go forward again with respect to the season.
